I can certainly send you the court order on the bail determination once it's issued. If you haven't gotten it from me by later next week, could you please just remind me? I don't want it to get lost in the avalanche of current stuff.

Also just to note, we obviously have no position (or request, directive, hint, nod, or wink) whatsoever regarding his passport—we don't know what that process is so we completely defer on the substance. But of course happy to get you the order, and let us know if anything else would be helpful.

thank you,

The State Department has gotten several inquiries regarding Epstein's passport. He currently has one valid passport and Consular Affairs (CA) would like to revoke it.

I understand he will have a bail hearing on Monday. Would you be able to send me the court order (even if he is remanded) so CA can revoke to the book? I assume if he is released on bail there will be a travel restriction imposed/surrender of his passport.

Thanks.

Cc'ed to this email is the prosecution team for the Epstein case.

Team,

Please meet [REDACTED] an ASAC at the DSS NY Field Office (and my former boss).

State Department's Consular Affairs Bureau is looking for some information regarding Epstein's passport, as they considering revoking it. Can you guys please coordinate with [REDACTED] regarding this issue.

Thanks!
